

VECTOR III® TEXTBOOK: “STIGMATA OF RESPIRATORY TRACT ALLERGIES”

Presented by Dr. Alan Polse

This textbook is an atlas type reference of allergic respiratory tract disorders in children. A pictorial and case presentation with information to afford the user with;

1. Recognition and familiarization.
2. Awareness and judgment.
3. Indications for referral for diagnosis and implementation of treatment intervention on behalf of developing children.

In developing children an altered function will alter structure.

If the cause/etiology is not addressed a compromised orthodontic intervention and correction is probable along with an increased probability of relapse.

Early management of allergic respiratory tract disease is essential if its long-term consequences are to be prevented or minimized. The opportunity for early treatment is enhanced when one becomes familiar with the various physical manifestations of respiratory tract allergy.

This is important information from VECTOR III® for doctors, staff and patients. A rare opportunity for materials not often found elsewhere, in an easy to use and present, written and CD format. This is a must for orthodontic intervention of developing children to provide the highest standard of care.

An optional test, shipped with textbook, for 5 hours CE credit plus a 1 hour bonus question. A total of 6 hours CE credit! Printed version with CD is $115.00
